Pork Producers School Has Large Attendance Tuesday

Farrowing Losses Will Be Subject for Next Tuesday

Evening class attendance at the Antioch High school took a decided increase when 52 farmers crowded into the Agriculture room last Tuesday evening to study the problem of "How to increase the number of pigs farrowed per sow and improve their vitality at birth." C. L. Kutil, the instructor, made a deep and scientific presentation of the subject, approaching it from an angle not often discussed in swine breeding circles.

Next Tuesday evening, the subject for discussion will be a most important one, dealing with the prevention of losses at farrowing time and immediately after. The construction of a pig electric brooder will be demonstrated.

A moving picture, "How to Grow Hogs" will be shown. This film is being secured from the Iowa State college.

Others who have not yet enrolled in this "Food for War" course may still do so.

News of the Boys in Service

If you know what shop a sailor is on, or what company or regiment a soldier is with overseas, then you know a military "secret," the office of Censorship in Washington warns.

This secret ought not to be published. This is why:

A general needs to know the strength of his opponent; how many guns, ships, planes there are in each theater of war.

The Nazis and the Japs want to know these things about our forces. Their agents assemble the information like this: from one paper, an item reveals the 600th Infantry is in Australia; another, that the U. S. S. Wisconsin is in the Mediterranean; another, that the 205th Tank Battalion is in North Africa.

Add hundreds of these bits of information together, and our enemies have a "too-accurate estimate of American military strength."

These are our soldiers—Americans all—who we endanger by these "attle slips."

This is not a "blackett on the news about our soldiers. Considerable latitude in reporting personal experiences gives the enemy little military information, if the troop units, the ship names are kept secret. But in articles about soldiers and sailors, and their addresses for them, don't give away their fighting units.

W. G. Stratton Youngest State Office Holder

Sworn in as State Treasurer at Age of 28 Years

William G. Stratton, son of the late William J. Stratton, former secretary of state (1928-32) was sworn in as state treasurer at Springfield Monday, and Vernon L. Nickell was inaugurated as superintendent of public instruction in colorful ceremonies in the chamber of the house of representatives.

Stratton, 28 years old, is the youngest man to hold an Illinois state office. Two years ago, at the age of 26, he was elected Illinois congressman-at-large.

Justice June C. Smith of the state supreme court administered the oaths before a joint session of the senate and house. Visitors' galleries were filled, and in seats of honor on the speaker's platform were all elected state officials with the exception of Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes, Edward F. Cullinan, clerk of the supreme court, and John A. Wieland, retiring superintendent of public instruction, all Democrats.

Stratton, who defeated W. D. Forsyth, his Democratic opponent, in the Nov. 3 election by over 250,000 pluralities, was sworn in first. In his talk he pledged efficiency in office and proper administration of the hundreds of millions of dollars over which he now becomes custodian.

Nickell, the new superintendent of public instruction, asserted there would be "a vacation from the school system from politics or any other influence that might detract from the sound preparation of all good Americans for their later lives."

Mr. and Mrs. Stratton live at Morris. They have two daughters, Sandra Jane, 6, and Diana Joy, 3. Mrs. Stratton and daughters were honored guests at the inauguration ceremonies.

The inauguration of Nickell removes another Democrat from the list of state office-holders, leaving Secretary of State Hughes the only regularly elected official from that party in office.

Local Red Cross Quota Raised; Workers Needed

The Antioch Red Cross unit's quota of surgical dressings has been raised, and additional workers will be welcomed, it is announced this week.

Women having an hour or more to spare may assist at the Red Cross headquarters in the Chase Webb building any time between 9 a. m. and 4 p. m., or 7 to 9 p. m. Tuesdays; or between 12 noon and 4 p. m. or 7 to 9 p. m. Thursdays and Fridays.

This work fills a very real need, and is an opportunity for persons with a limited amount of spare time to aid in the war effort, Red Cross leaders point out.

GREMLINS

Limit Mail Service For Yanks Abroad

Packages Must Have Army O. K.; Need Cargo Space for Military Use

In accordance with recommendations made by the War Department, the U. S. Post Office Department has announced drastic restrictions on mail for soldiers overseas. The new limitations become effective January 15. The Navy Department is expected to issue similar orders within the next few days affecting the mail addressed to sailors and marines serving without the continental limits of the United States.

Under the new regulations:

1. No parcel exceeding 5 pounds in weight, or 15 inches in length, or 36 inches in length and girth combined, will be accepted for dispatch to A. P. O.'s overseas for individuals.

2. No package may be sent to a soldier overseas unless it contains an article that has been requested by the soldier and the request has been approved by the commanding officer.

3. Individual copies of newspapers or magazines accepted only where subscriptions are specifically requested in writing by the addressee or for subscriptions now in effect. (Copies of the Antioch News now going overseas are subscriptions "now in effect" by reason of "substantial payment" having been made for them.)

4. Unless a letter is sent by V-mail it will not go overseas by air. V-mail will continue to be transported abroad by plane, while all other air mail will go by surface vessels, the air mail stamp being disregarded after a letter has reached the embarkation point.

American fighting men taken prisoner by Germany or Italy and interned American civilians receive regular American Red Cross standard food parcels and necessary clothing as soon as the International Red Cross Committee in Geneva is notified of their capture and camp location. A total of 5,931 food parcels were reported dispatched to camps in Europe during November to United States prisoners of war and internees. Prisoners receive a package a week and internees one every two weeks.

In addition to the standard Red Cross parcels, which have been carefully prepared by nutrition experts to counteract any vitamin deficiencies in the regular prison diet, a prisoner may also receive one supplementary parcel every 60 days from his family or friends as soon as they have been officially notified by the Provost Marshal General's office of his capture and whereabouts. Full directions for sending these parcels are sent to the next of kin at the time of notification. Information may also be obtained from any post office on what may be included in these parcels to prisoners of war, for which, under regulations recently issued by the Board of Economic Warfare, no individual export license is now required.

The American Red Cross food parcels contain evaporated milk, biscuits, cheese, cocoa, sardines, pork, beef, chocolate bars, sugar, coffee, powdered orange concentrate, prunes, cigarettes and smoking tobacco. The contents of each package weigh 84 pounds. The shipping weight is 11 pounds.

Large numbers of these standard food parcels have been shipped through the neutral port of Lisbon. They are carried from Lisbon on a vessel chartered by the International Red Cross Committee, under a safe conduct guarantee from the belongings, to Marseilles, or Genoa, and from there are sent by rail to Geneva. The International Committee arranges for their transport to the camps, where they are handed out by the "man of confidence," the camp leader chosen by the prisoners from among themselves. A system of receipts in triplicate, and constant checks by the International Red Cross Committee delegates who make periodic inspections of the camps, assure that all parcels are received by those for whom they are intended.

Twenty thousand American Red Cross parcels were sent last June in the Far East on the neutral diplomatic exchange ship, the Gripsholm, for distribution by International Red Cross Committee delegates to American prisoners in Japan, Occupied China, 1970; Maurice Edwards, 1880; Elmer Hoselton, 1650; and Robert Hughes, 1580 points.

"This is a minor war project of the Future Farmers of America, performed by Future Farmers, and a great deal of pleasure and adventure is involved in carrying out this one," according to C. L. Kutil, adviser of the Antioch chapter.

Nielsen's Are Back Again

"Louie" and Rose Return to Nielsen's Corners After Vacation

Creating quite a stir of interest was the news that Louis J. and Rose Nielsen had returned to the barbecue stand, service station and sports information center they operated successfully for many years at the intersection of Highway 59 and Grass Lake road, until "Nielsen's Corners" became a landmark.

"Louie" and "Rose" operated the "Corners" for 11 years, before leasing it to William Dunworth for the past 14 months, while they took a vacation.

The wide-spread circle of friends they made during the years they were at the "Corners" has shared with pleasure the word of their return.

Mr. and Mrs. Nielsen are having the place re-decorated, and will continue the many features which made the spot a popular gathering place, as in the past.

In addition to his business interests, Mr. Nielsen is a well-known sportsman, and he and Mrs. Nielsen have given loyal support to all efforts in behalf of the lake region and the betterment of the community.

3613 Pests Destroyed In Conservation Project

In order to conserve a considerable amount of the farm feed supply usually destroyed by farm pests in Lake county, the Future Farmer Chapters of the Antioch and Warren High schools joined in an eradication project where the lives of 2050 sparrows, 1094 mice, 317 rats, 100 starlings, and 52 crows were destroyed.

Time to Check Up

While there is no disposition on the part of the American people to appear miserly or over-conservative in an all-out war effort, many hard-hit tax payers will be glad to know that the 78th Congress will soon be investigating government spending not only for the support of non-essential activities but for war activities as well.

President Roosevelt has put up to Congress the job of deciding which activities of the government are essential and which should be eliminated or cut down.

Believing that the time has arrived to go much further than the elimination of unnecessary activities by shaking down some of the war agencies to see if economies could be made in that field, Senator Taft recently made the following statements:

"The War Production Board has 19,000 employees and probably could do a much more efficient job if it were reorganized and had about 5,000 fewer workers.

Similarly, the Office of Price Administration has about 40,000 employees and it is likely that a lot of them are falling over each others' feet.

"It's up to Congress now," the Senator from Ohio continued, "not only to limit non-war expenditures but to see to it that war expenditures are made efficiently."

Mr. Taft said he thought that one of the greatest sources of wastefulness lay in the duplication of efforts of various government bureaus. He had been told, he said, that five government agencies were carrying on similar programs in many Latin-American nations.

Industrial America at War

During the past twelve months the whole complexion of America has changed. A peaceful nation drawn suddenly into the vortex of worldwide war has, in this short period, become the most gigantic armory the world has ever known.

So rapid has been this transformation and so dynamic the force behind it that in one year's time United States production has outstripped the vast production machines built by our enemies over a period of ten years.

Last week three great metropolitan newspapers, The New York Times, the New York Herald Tribune, and The Wall Street Journal, paid tribute to this amazing industrial achievement by devoting special supplements to the herculean task American industry has accomplished.

On the pages of these supplements there is unfolded the amazing picture of American industry at all-out war, of mammoth plants built overnight or converted to straight-line munitions production, making records only to be shattered and shattered again, utilizing every scientific development born of the war, employing inventions and shortcuts to amaze even this sophisticated age.

Reviewing the situation as a whole, War Production Chief Donald M. Nelson declared that "During the first year of war the United States got the bulk of its tremendous industrial facilities on an all-out basis." More specifically, we learn that the steel industry set the all time record production of 89,000,000 tons of ingots. The American aircraft manufacturers produced 49,000 airplanes of all types and are well on the way to the creation of the world's most powerful striking force.

During 1942 machine tool production reached the all-time high of $1,400,000,000 which is 82 per cent more than 1941, 210 per cent greater than 1940, and seven times the sales of 1939.

The year 1942 saw the production of 32,000 tanks and self-propelled artillery units, 17,000 anti-aircraft guns, and 8,200,000 deadweight tons of merchant shipping. Huge increases in every war category are recorded on the production books of 1942.

But, in the words of F. C. Crawford, President of the National Association of Manufacturers, "American industry is standing on the threshold of the greatest production era in history." The records of 1942 will be broken and broken again until the forces of evil are driven from the world and man can again live in security and peace.

Serious Undertaking

As the new year opens, statisticians, experts and housewives agree on one fact. The cost of living is rising ominously. Cries for inflation controls grow louder. The "easy" way of paying for war by painless borrowing is beginning to hurt. The best possible inflation control is taxation. This control has not been applied effectively.

An additional inflation control is direct sale of war bonds to the people. The banks should receive much of the credit for successfully putting tens of billions of dollars worth of these bonds into the hands of the public. Their efforts have helped immeasurably to stem the trend toward forced savings and resultant restrictions which the Treasury has been reluctant to impose. The Treasury hopes to raise the present figure of 23 million workers now investing an average of 8% of their pay in savings bonds, to a figure of at least 30 million workers setting aside an average of at least 10% of their earnings every pay day. This means, in the words of a spokesman for the National City Bank of New York, that: "The banker, by virtue of his position in the community, has a special responsibility for taking off his coat and getting down to work to make the financing a success."

However, no voluntary war bond program can possibly be a success unless the American people evidence a willingness to turn from a scramble for disappearing luxuries and put their money into a serious undertaking. That undertaking is winning the war, and at the same time saving the economic system by which we all live.

JESUS WINNING SOULS

LESSON TEXT—John 4:27-42.
GOLDEN TEXT—He that recepeth recompence receveth wages, and gathereth fruit unto life eternall—John 4:36.

Man's need is the same wherever and whenever he may be. The Christ who met the need of the distinguished religious leader Nicodemus did the same for the poor sinful woman of Samaria.

The incident at Jacob's well in Sychar took place when Jesus, leaving Jerusalem because of increasing hindrance to His work, went up to Galilee. Unlike His Jewish brethren, who detoured around the land of the hated "half-breed" Samaritans, He "must needs go through Samaria," for there was a sin-sick soul that needed Him.

Our lesson abounds with instruction regarding soul-winning, both in principle and in practice. We here find Jesus:

I. Winning a Soul-Winner (vv. 27-30)

The faithful and kindly ministry of Christ led the woman to faith in Him as the Messiah. She left her water pot and ran at once into the city to share her new-found joy with everyone she knew.

Since the first expression of spiritual life is testimony, the one who brings a sinner to Christ not only saves a soul, but also wins a worker for Christ. One fears that we often assume that winning men to Christ is enough. We should expect that the new light should shine forth into the darkness.

So we have a two-fold reason for soul-winning; saving a soul from perdition, and setting a life on fire for testimony. It's a great business. Why don't we do more of it?

II. Instructing Soul-Winners (vv. 31-36)

This work of soul-winning requires a sustaining grace which this world cannot give. Jesus by His own example showed His disciples how that strength comes from above.

He who had seated Himself at the well, tired and hungry, to await the return of the disciples with food, had been refreshed in the doing of the Father's will—in reaching this forlorn woman. "The greatest thing that ever occurs in the world is the transformation of a human soul, and the greatest joy anyone can ever have is to act as the divine agent in bringing about such a transformation" (Douglass).

There is another thing these soul-winners needed to learn—even as we need to learn and re-learn it—that the time to win souls is now. How prone the human being is to procrastinate. Tomorrow—next Sunday—next week, we will speak to someone about his spiritual need. Next year we will give more liberally for missions, or for the work of soul-winning in our local church. But "look on the fields." Do you not see "that they are ripe already unto harvest"?

Again, soul-winners need to remember our Lord's words in verses 30-38. Not only the reapers receive the reward, but also those who sow and those who labor in order that the harvest may come. The man who plows is just as important as the one who reaps—perhaps some would say more important. Some of us who are called to be God's plowmen should remember that and be encouraged in our labors.

Like the perfect leader that He was, Jesus did not require of His disciples what He did not do Himself. So we find Him again in the work of evangelism. He practiced what He preached.

III. Practicing Soul-Winning (vv. 39-42)

There is real danger that those of us who have a measure of leadership in the church may be quick to tell others what they ought to do—and not do it ourselves. This is particularly true in this matter of soul-winning. One is apt to write, preach and teach about it, and then neglect to do it.

The disciples had been to town for "bread." One wonders whether they had talked to the store-keeper about Christ. Have you?

Jesus did not theorize about it—He really sought men for God. The testimony of the woman He had won sent a host of people out from the city. He spoke to them the word of life, and they believed.

This was evidently "group evangelism" as distinguished from the "personal evangelism" which won the woman. They are both important, and belong together. Some are saying that the days of group evangelism are gone. We doubt that, but certainly the days of personal evangelism are always here. Let us be busy about that kind of soul-winning—and God may so bless that we will have a real revival. Are you ready for it?

Steal Two Calloopes, Pipe Organ, Engine

BELLEVILLE, ILL.—John Francis reported as stolen from a warehouse, two steam calloopes, a pipe organ, one truck engine and several tires and wheels.

The sheriff's office theorized "In view of the fact most of the stolen articles were heavy, the thieves must have worked at night with a truck."

U. S. Puts Touch

And Sells Him $683 Worth Of War Bonds.

NEW YORK—Harry Engberg is a little man who likes to get something for nothing. He walked into a bakery and asked for a loaf of bread.

"Look," he said to the clerk, "I got two small boys home. I need it. Trust me."

The clerk didn't trust a few words led to an argument and a policeman was called. Engberg went to court for padlocking.

"What's that?" asked the court, pointing to a paper shopping bag.

"Money . . . $683," said the arresting officer, "all of it in old gold-backed bills and silver dollars. The treasury people are coming up to see him now."

"How much money did you have?" the court asked Engberg.

"I had a little—maybe 10 cents," Engberg replied.

"How much?" the court repeated. "Maybe 50 cents," said Engberg. "You may not like it, but you're going to get $10 or five days," said the magistrate.

"I'll pay," Engberg said. Two treasury agents stepped up. "I don't trust banks," said Engberg, hesitatingly.

"That's all right," said one agent, "you're going to make a very sound investment."

And he did—$683 worth of war bonds.

Pilot Downed in Jungle, Unfed 6 Days, Hikes Back

SOMEWHERE IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC.—Lieut. Duncan Sefton of Maiana, Wis., reached this advanced operational base after a 70-mile hike through dense jungles in an incessant tropical downpour, during which he went six days without food.

He was the pilot of a plane lost in New Guinea recently. His crew bailed out of the plane with him and three have returned to their base.

"I came down in a thick bush with only my revolver, a pocket compass and a bottle of aspirins," he said. "It was raining heavily so I broke the bottle, cut the center of my parachute and made a tent, then pushed on south until I found a stream."

"I followed the stream to a large river, which took me to the sea. It was a good six days before I found a native village and got some food—one banana. I had to cross three steep mountains but I met a patrol officer and he gave me some food."

D. A. R. Elm Becomes

A Blooming Cherry Tree

RALEIGH, N. C.—Some years ago Daughters of the American Revolution planted on North Carolina's Capitol square, with elaborate ceremony, a little tree purported to be an offspring of the "Continental Elm" planted at Cambridge, Mass., by Gen. George Washington.

The ladies even kept a box of earth taken from around the roots of the parent tree for use in christening the "elm" when it grew up.

The little "elm" has grown up—but it's blooming, and State Forester J. S. Holmes identified the bloom as cherry blossoms.

Files Novel Tax Return

TACOMA, WASH.—The tax rate will have to go a lot higher before the government gets any money out of a certain Spokane, Wash., wage earner.

Collector of Internal Revenue, Clark Squire reported his office received an income tax blank from the Spokane resident which was filled out only down to the space where the exemptions were to be listed.

Enclosed with the unfinished blank was a picture of the breadwinner with his wife and family of ten children.

Why Ask for Rebate?

Tourists Were Lucky!

TOPEKA, KAN.—A couple of tourists wrote to state officials and complained they had to vacate a Kansas tourist cabin because skunks were under the floor. They asked for their money back.

Frank J. Ryne, secretary of state, replied that they should forget about a rebate.

"Just consider it worth the price that you got away from the skunks before they did you any damage," he advised them.

When putting away garden tools for the winter, the home owner will do well to bear in mind that it may be difficult or even impossible to buy new tools for the duration. All garden tools should be carefully cleaned, cutting edges well coated with oil or grease, and other parts subject to rust, varnished or painted.

Acoustical Cornstalks

WEEK OF DEDICATION

Methodist Church, Antioch, Ill.

During the past year, leaders of the Methodist Church throughout the nation have felt the need of a season of rededication and sacrifice. This conviction took definite form last August when it was decided to call the entire Church to a Week of Dedication, beginning Sunday, Feb. 28, and ending Sunday, March 7.

The movement is primarily an effort to stir the entire Church to a season of prayer, to lay upon its heart the world's need of the gospel, and to re-establish its faith in Jesus Christ.

In preparation for this Week of Dedication nearly eight million Methodists, and as many more friends of the church, is being asked to enter into a Covenant to pray daily for the blessing of God upon this movement. The special objects of prayer during the period from now till the Week of Dedication are: 1. For humble and devout dedication of self, service, and substance to the Lord Jesus Christ. 2. For our local church, its pastor, its leaders, and its members, that we may experience a genuine awakening, and that many more may be won to Christ. 3. For the Methodist church and all other churches, that the missionary passion may be reborn, and that the Church Universal may be a faithful interpreter of Jesus Christ in a confused and tragic world. 4) For our men and women in service, for peace, and the day when all races and peoples shall live together as children of one Father.

Already thirty-two individuals have signed "Personal Covenant" prayer pledges. We ask all who hope for a better world to join us in this Covenant of prayer and that you will pray daily for the blessing of God upon this Week of Dedication which has in it such large possibilities for the enrichment of our spiritual life. Pledges will be available at the regular Church service, which meets at 11:00 o'clock each Sunday, or they may be secured from the pastor, Rev. Warren C. Henslee, Phone 61-M.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Sacrifice" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, January 10.

The Golden Text was, "I will take the cup of salvation, and call upon the name of the Lord, I will pay my vows unto the Lord now in the presence of all his people" (Psalms 116:13, 14).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Wash me throughly from mine iniquity, and cleanse me from my sin. Behold, thou desirest truth in the inward parts; and in the hidden parts thou shalt make me to know wisdom. Create in me a clean heart, O God; and renew a right spirit within me. Restore unto me the joy of thy salvation; and uphold me with thy free spirit" (Psalms 51:2, 6, 10, 12).

The following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "One's aim, a point beyond faith, should be to find the footstep of Truth, the way to health and holiness. We should strive to reach the high height where God is revealed; and the corner-stone of all spiritual building is purity. The baptism of Spirit, washing the body of all the impurities of flesh, signifies that the pure in heart see God and are approaching spiritual Life and its demonstration" (p. 241).

a Christmas present. It sure is nice to be able to read about the folks around home when one is so far away.

The fellows I'm with are all from around Chicago and have been reading about the cold weather you have been having. We think we are at the deep south here because the coldest it has been so far is around 30° above. On Christmas day it was around 65°.

Even in the army we have different shifts. They are: 3:00 A. M. — 11:00

A. M.; 11:00 A. M. — 7:00 P. M.; 7:00 P. M. — 3:00 A. M. I change my shift every twenty days.

I expect to get a furlough around the 1st of March. So I'll close now, hoping to be back in a good town, "Antioch" even for just fifteen days.

Chicago, Jan. 14—A drive for collection of feathers to be used in the war effort will be made by Illinois housewives, Mrs. Frederic W. Upham and Rep. Bernice T. Van der Vries, co-chairmen of the women's division of the Illinois State Council of Defense, announced today.

Body feathers of ducks and geese are wanted to provide down linings for aviators' suits and other cold weather garments of our armed forces. Feathers salvaged from old pillows or mattresses also are wanted, but should be kept separate from new ones. These are used for army hospital pillows.

Community council chairmen are asked to seek cooperation from farmers and butchers, as well as housewives in gathering "down to help our enemies."

The Izaak Walton League of America, Mrs. Van der Vries said, has been conducting a nationwide campaign for feathers which can be delivered to its 20 chapters in Illinois or shipment can be made direct to the Izaak Walton League—Feathers, 3227 S. Shields Ave., Chicago. Proceeds from such shipments go to the joint army and navy relief.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Nazis Face Serious Retreats in Russia Following New Major Gains by Soviet; U. S. Planes Smash Jap Ships at Rabaul; Gen. Clark Commands Africa Fifth Army

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

President Roosevelt examines a huge globe of the world, which was presented to him by the army. The globe, which is 50 inches in diameter, shows in considerable detail strategic areas of the earth's surface. It occupies a prominent place in the President's office in the White House.

SIGNIFICANCE: Of Russia's Drive

While the world marveled at the military might of the Russians which was able to push the Nazis back all along the battle front the full significance of this winter campaign was overlooked by many. Should the offensive maintain its momentum in the early days of the new year Hitler's troops faced the definite prospect of retreating to lines they held in the last World war.

On both ends of the long fighting front the Russians were scoring major triumphs. In the north, the vital German-held supply base and rail center of Veliki Luki had fallen to the Soviet army. (Veliki Luki is only 200 miles from East Prussia.) In this sector the big threat was to the Nazis massed before Leningrad, because if the Russians pushed beyond Veliki Luki toward that stronghold all the Germans in the area would be cut off from supplies. Further extending the picture, military experts foresee the necessary evacuation of Estonia and northern Latvia.

Results

But while much of this campaign in the north was speculation, Russia might had already dealt a series of crushing blows to the Germans massed in front of Stalingrad and in the Caucasus. Success here came as the result of a bold strategic move on the part of Josef Stalin and General Zhukoff. For when these Russian leaders decided that Germany had about spent her might in the all-out effort to capture Stalingrad they unleashed a counter-offensive directly before the city. Soon they learned that the Germans had few reserves between the Volga and the Don rivers. Thus the Russians took heart and pushed westward toward the all-important city of Rostov.

Capture of Rostov would mean the entrapment of a million Nazis in the Caucasus. Hitler realized this and started a general movement of his troops in that sector. But again the Russians attacked and were successful in capturing many important points while driving the Nazis ever backward from their last year's goal—the oil fields of Grozny and Baku.

NEW SPIRIT: On Capitol Hill

Over were the colorful opening sessions of the new 78th congress and the national legislators had settled down to the tough job ahead. Yet a new spirit—some observers called it a "spirit of independence"—hung over Capitol Hill.

On the biggest objective of all—the winning of the war—there was unity between the two parties. There, however, unity ended.

Support of the administration in most of its home policies would no doubt be forthcoming from the Democratic side of both houses but there would be no quick "write your own ticket" edicts of power to the executive branch. Like their Republican brethren, the Democrats were in a "show me" mood as far as domestic programs were concerned.

So small was the control of the Democratic party that anything could and more than likely would happen. Republicans had their eyes on 1944 and were pledged to strictly uphold the position of an opposition party on matters affecting the home front.

HIGHLIGHTS . . . in the week's news

DRAFT deferment was sought by 28 Oxford group aliens, members of Moral Rearmament organization, on grounds their work is of a morale-building nature. Twenty-five are English, one a Canadian, one a Dane and one a Norwegian.

VETERAN character actress, Kate Price, 70, died in Hollywood, Calif. The exercising kind was specified in ad when it appeared in a newspaper.

FOOD PRICES: And Subsidies

Householders with low incomes frozen for the duration, looked to Washington for further developments on a reported program to allow food prices to rise rather than to have the government continue subsidies to farmers.

This report indicated that such a policy is gradually being put into effect and that subsidies will be continued only where necessary to keep up farm production. If so, this program represents a change from that carried out under Leon Henderson who even "went around" congress to reach his subsidy goal.

At one time he asked congress for a half billion dollars to carry out a subsidy plan and keep food prices down. This was rejected and the government began to use funds of the Commodity Credit corporation to maintain temporary subsidies.

The new policy would have two main objectives:

1. To keep down the national debt by not allowing further subsidy payments from the federal treasury, and,

2. Would make consumers stand their share in a price raise. (It is argued that there is a great surplus buying power evident among consumers.)

But the householder whose income is not from war work and has not been increased because of the war boom was caught squarely in the middle. He found no comfort in the fact that food prices had risen 16 per cent in the year ending last October and that in November they had risen another 1.2 per cent. Later figures were not available for him to fret about.

CHINESE MISSION:

'Not Recalled'

Chang Too-fan, Chinese minister of information, has emphatically denied that Lieut. Gen. Hsiung Shih-fel, head of the Chinese military mission to the United States, has been recalled.

After General Hsiung conferred recently with President Roosevelt, it was reported unofficially that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek had recalled the military mission because he was dissatisfied with American aid to China.

Chang said that Hsiung's visit to London—and even a trip to Chungking—was merely in the normal course of events. Hsiung will return to the United States, the minister of information said.

VICTORY FLEET: Production Doubled

More than 16,000,000 tons of merchant shipping—double last year's output—will be produced in 1943. President Roosevelt predicted at a press conference during which U. S. shipyards were praised by the President and by Adm. Emory S. Land, chairman of the Maritime commission, for their record-breaking performances.

The 1942 goal of 8,000,000 tons was surpassed by 90,000 tons. At the end of December merchant ships were being built at a rate of 14,400,000 tons a year, the President said. This rate will continue to increase until the peak is reached during May, at which time shipyards will be producing five ships a day, compared with a rate of four at present. Totals do not include a number of ships built for the armed forces.

When peak production for 1942 was reached in December, 121 ships, totaling 1,199,300 tons, were built. During all of 1941 only 95 ships totaling 1,038,000 tons, were produced.

U. S. WAR DEAD: Listed by OIFW

Since Pearl Harbor, 8,531 members of the armed forces of the United States have been killed; the Office of War Information has disclosed. Total casualties have been 61,126, including killed, wounded, missing, interned in neutral countries and prisoners of army, navy, marine corps, coast guard and the Philippine Scouts.

The heaviest loss was reported by the navy, which lost 4,657 officers and men killed. The navy is in the process of reporting 23,254 casualties, excluding prisoners of war. Of this, 1,769 officers and men are reported as wounded and 8,970 missing.

The marine corps has reported 1,201 officers and men as dead; 1,658 as wounded and 1,943 as missing. A total of 50 coast guardmen have been killed, 19 wounded and 134 are missing. The merchant marine reports 429 dead, 2,428 missing and none wounded.

Of the army's 36,528 casualties, 2,195 were wounded. This total includes 469 Philippine Scouts. Of the 29,265 missing, 11,352 were Philippine Scouts. The army listed 1,016 as prisoners of war and 106 interned in neutral countries.

A total of 4,226 United States civilians are interred by enemy.

BUTTER:

Effective February 1 a new order by Food Administrator Claude Wickard sets aside 20 per cent of the nation's creamery butter production for the military forces and the Lend-Lease program of 1943. This means that a civilian supply averaging 13 pounds of butter per person for the year will be available. This is three pounds less per person than was available last year. If production goals are not met or if military demands increase the available civilian supply may be cut still more.

Returning to camp one night Private D. C. Bowlin of Camp Barkeley, Texas, had a flat tire. Rather than ruin the precious rubber by driving further, he got out and walked to the nearest station for assistance. But when he returned the flat tire and the good ones as well had been stolen. Strongly enough the private didn't seem very angry. "Gosh," said the filling station attendant, "what can you do with it now?" "Well, I'll tell you," said Bowlin, "I've been worried about not having anything to give to the USO scrap metal drive. Now I can make a real contribution!"

Savages Friendly To Survivors of Torpedoed Ship

41 Men From Lost Vessel Get Warm Welcome From Natives in Africa.

NEW YORK.—Forty-one survivors of a medium-sized United States merchant ship, torpedoed and sunk in the Indian ocean several months ago, reached the African coast after seven days in an open boat, only to be confronted by naked savages armed with big knives. Fortunately the savages turned out to be friendly and helped the seamen make their way back to civilization.

This was revealed by some of the survivors who had reached an East coast port. The sinking of the ship was officially announced recently by the navy department in Washington. Fourteen men, 12 members of the crew of the merchant ship and two of the ten-man naval gun crew, are missing and presumed dead.

Two Torpedoes Hit.

Capt. W. W. Kuhne of 460 Oakland avenue, West New Brighton, S. I., said that the ship was sunk by two torpedoes, which he believed were fired from a motor torpedo boat. While his crew and the naval gunners were abandoning ship, he said, one lifeboat was upset. The loss of life occurred among the men who were in it.

All 41 survivors crowded into one of the three remaining lifeboats, abandoning the two others. Captain Kuhne reported that they suffered severely from hunger and thirst during the week before they reached land. When shore was sighted a heavy surf was running and he feared the crowded lifeboat might not make the beach.

"But we started in and then about 20 natives came on the beach to watch us land," he told the Associated Press. "They had big knives hanging from belts. The belts were the only clothing they wore."

Really Worried.

"We were really worried but we decided to test them to see if they were friendly. As soon as we were close enough we tossed a rope, they rushed up and helped us beach the boat, and we knew they were our friends."

Captain Kuhne said that the natives fed the hungry men, taught them to catch crabs, and bartered bananas and chickens for their possessions. Two matches were traded for four bananas; and a life preserver brought four chickens. The natives were glad to take United States coins but were skeptical about dollar bills.

The Africans helped the shipwrecked men to travel on foot and by boat to a town, from which they returned to the United States by ship and airplane.

Dream Causes Reunion of Sisters Apart 40 Years

ST. LOUIS.—A dream has united two sisters, who had not seen or heard from each other since 1902, when they parted in Copenhagen, Denmark.

In the dream, Mrs. Rhenehilda Brawshaw of Teaneck, N. J., said she visualized the name of her sister, Mrs. Emelie Kasch, in the St. Louis telephone book.

She obtained a copy of the directory, found the address of an Albert Kasch and wrote him a letter, explaining her desire to find her sister, who had married an Albert Kasch in Denmark before departing for the United States 40 years ago. Mrs. Brawshaw came to this country two years later.

The Albert Kasch listed in the telephone book proved to be Mrs. Brawshaw's sister's son, and the letter brought the two women together here for a reunion.

"It was like a new life to see her again," said Mrs. Kasch. "I had given her up for dead."

Phone's Tinkle Not Her Idea of Wedding Bells

DES MOINES, IOWA.—Long distances don't discourage sailor Arthur V. Baird from being a gallant suitor. It cost him $32 to propose to Ellen Spiker, 17, from his station at Boston, Mass., but he's assured of a bride when he gets home.

After talking to Arthur for 45 minutes on a long distance call, Ellen agreed to accept the ring which he wanted to send the next day. But she wants to wait until after the war to be married.

She says she thinks it's all right to get engaged by telephone, but she positively won't get married on the telephone.

By Taking a Short-Cut

PORLTAND, ORE.—It's the shortest way between two points and, besides, why should a wise racing dog waste energy?

Greyhound No. 7 in a recent "chase the bunny and win papa a quinella" race didn't chase the fuzziest tail completely around the track. Instead, he halted, surveyed the situation, and finally decided to cut across the field and meet the "bunny" half way.

The pooh and the rabbit collided head-on.

Loss—one mechanical rabbit. Retired—one greyhound racing dog.

1942 Steel Taxes Almost Equal Government Expenses in 1912

The federal taxes which the steel industry alone is paying during 1942 nearly equal the total expenditures of the U. S. Government in the year 1912.

Plates Enough to Girdle the Globe

In 1942 the steel industry is producing the record-smashing total of 11,000,000 tons of plates, enough to girdle the earth with a 9-foot band of steel, half an inch thick.

Demand for Horse-shoes at Peak Levels

Amid the greatest mechanized war in history, America's 12,000,000 horses all seem to need new pairs of steel shoes. Demand is twice that of recent years.

Man Pays $15 Debt After 30-Year Lapse

Perfect Husband Proves Bigamist

Death Reveals He Had Two Wives for 18 Years.

LOS ANGELES.—The strange saga of a mild-mannered architect, who lived a dual life with two wives in the same city for 18 years, was within hours of a denouement, an investigator said, when death intervened.

That statement, and a claim of wife No. 1's attorney that wife No. 2 had known for almost a year that her husband was married to another, were the day's developments in the case of Louis L. Huot, as he was known on the city engineer's office, or Louis H. Meeks, as he listed himself in directories as an architect in private practice.

Wife No. 1 is Mrs. Ethel Huot, 58, whom he married in 1911. Wife No. 2 is Mrs. Olive Blanche Meeks, 63, a school teacher, whom he wed in 1924. Between them looms a contest over his $30,000 estate.

Nick Harris, private detective representing Mrs. Huot, disclosed that a conference with his client was to have been climaxed by a visit to the home where Huot lived with Mrs. Meeks.

"We were going to have a showdown," Harris declared.

But Huot, or Meeks, 56, died in the meantime. L. H. Phillips, counsel for Mrs. Huot, declared:

"More than a year ago, Mrs. Meeks was informed that her husband had another wife. She was not in ignorance of his dual life."

But C. F. Christopher, Mrs. Meeks' attorney, retorted:

"All this was a complete surprise to me. I am sure it was a surprise to Mrs. Meeks."

Mrs. Meeks said:

"I loved him deeply. I trusted him completely. It never entered my thoughts that there was another woman in his life."

There was a striking parallel in the attitudes of the two women.

"He couldn't have been a better husband," Mrs. Meeks added.

"He was kind, unassuming, quiet, considerate and a good provider," said Mrs. Huot.

'Sea Monster' Caught in Lagoon in Calgary Park

CALGARY, ALTA.—Well, they've finally caught an ogo-pogo, alleged sea serpent, in a big lagoon at Bowness park, Calgary play center, hundreds of miles from the sea.

At the same time the serpent was captured another monster, which children said "breathed fire," was reported in the North Saskatchewan river at Rocky Mountain house.

The "ogopogo" was still breathing and opening and closing its mouth when it was dragged to the shore. Commissioner R. McDonald used an axe to cut off its head which was as large as a football.

It was believed the "ogopogo" reached the lagoon by swimming through the water intake from the Bow river.

The fish was about five feet long and Commissioner McDonald cooked some of it for his supper and he said it tasted "grand."

Priorities Make the Hen Go Back to Work Again

AKRON.—Add notes on "business resulting from the war": The little red hen is back at work brooding her flock again.

Officials of the B. F. Goodrich company, which for several years has been supplying a large part of the rubber for artificial "mother hens" used in rearing young chicks, revealed here that the government regards the use of rubber for these modern brooders as "nonessential" and has banned its further use.

That tosses the mothering business right back into the hen's lap—or under it.

U. S. 'Thunderbolts' Are Now Based in Britain

Blue Grass vs. Pigs Per Acre
Good blue grass pasture will carry, per acre, as many as 15 pigs that average about 80 to 90 pounds, for from five to six months. Red clover and alfalfa pasture will do even better.

Harvest Clover Seed
If clover heads are filled with seed, it will pay to harvest the crop. Agronomists say that this can be done with a combine when the crop is dead ripe. Homegrown seed usually is most adaptable to local conditions.

Hebron Basketeers
Take Antioch, 40-29

The Antioch Sequoits suffered their third defeat of the season last Friday at the Hebron Community High School by losing to the Hebron five 29-40.

Jack Fields did most of the scoring for Antioch with seven field goals and one free throw. Jack, according to Coach C. A. Wolfenbarger, has been playing some real ball lately and certainly deserves a lot of credit. Bill Effinger, Sequoits guard, scored his first points of the season by making two field goals.

Hebron led throughout the game but Antioch managed to keep within three field goals of their score until the third quarter. Then Hebron went ahead with 16 points for a score of 22 against Antioch's 14.

In the fourth quarter Antioch rallied for 15 points with Fields scoring 7 of them. It was in this quarter that Dale Harnsberry made his three points. The final score of the game was 40-29.

It is interesting to note that the Sequoits held Judson, Hebron's star forward, to only three points in the first half of the game. It is also commendable to note that out of five chances for free throws Antioch made three, while out of eleven chances, Hebron made eight.

Friday, January 15, the Sequoits will try to beat Grant again.

Heroism Rescues
1,600 in Fire on
Navy TransportFlames Swept Through Ship
'Like Barn Full of Hay,' Says Witness.

WASHINGTON. — Tales of cool heroism and daring rescue were told by survivors of the navy transport Wakefield—one the 10-million-dollar liner Manhattan—gutted by a fire which swept through that great vessel as though it had been "a barn full of hay."

First word of the fire, which occurred somewhere on the Atlantic while the transport was traveling in convoy to an East coast port, was given out by the navy here. It said a preliminary checkup indicated that all the crew and passengers, totaling about 1,600, had been saved, although several were injured.

The passengers included civilians, and presumably sailors, while the vessel had a normal crew of 600 to 700 men. She was skippered by Comdr. Harold Gardner Bradbury of Port Angeles, Wash.

Fire Put Under Control.

After escorting warships in the convoy had taken all the passengers and personnel off, and the intensity of the fire had decreased somewhat, Commander Bradbury led a fire fighting party back aboard the stricken vessel and brought the flames under control.

The blackened bulk was then towed to port. Officials have not yet determined the cause of the fire, which started on one deck level and spread to another.

At an east coast port survivors gave vivid word pictures of the rescue scene—gutted action to flood the explosives magazine and toss shells into the sea, marines clambering aboard to prevent any panic, a destroyer coming alongside and smashing her superstructure against the towering hull of the liner, while the destroyer captain roared: "To hell with the bridge—hold her in."

"It was shortly after seven o'clock in the evening," said Robert Crabtree, a passenger. "I was lying on the deck near the bow of the ship when I saw men looking over the rail. I didn't pay too much attention because I thought they were watching the destroyers or looking for submarines.

Turns Ship Around.

"Then I saw a thin wisp of smoke. While I was looking, probably only a matter of two or three minutes, the smoke and fire seemed to race from one end of the transport to the other and completely enveloped the ship.

"We were headed into the wind, and the skipper quickly hove the transport around, so that the wind blew the smoke and flames away from us instead of front stem to stern.

"There were long blasts from the ship's whistle. Distress flags were run up.

"Almost immediately a destroyer and a cruiser started racing to our rescue. Large cargo nets were swinging over the side of the burning transport. We began clawing at the ropes of the net as tho it were a rope ladder.

"Some of the men fell from the net into the water, but it was still light and navy men quickly pulled them from the water onto the destroyer. I don't believe any of the passengers were lost but I am sure a lot of the crew must have been burned, the fire spread so fast."

Lieut. Henry P. Kniskern Jr., 27, of New York city, who took charge of a repair party, said that his outstanding impression was the behavior of the crew. He called them "the best gang you could get together."

Aquarius' Weds in Haste;
Is Freed With Lecture

ST. LOUIS. — Appearing before Judge John A. Withaus to seek an annulment of a hasty marriage, Mrs. Hazel D. Carr said she met Earl Carr, 31 years old, on a Friday, went out with him Sunday and that they were married six days later.

"I'm an aquarius," she explained, "and that means I'm impulsive. I do things hastily. That is my destiny."

"Be a little less impulsive in the future," Judge Withaus advised as he granted the annulment.

Man, 50, Gets in Navy;

Pal Gets Punch in Nose

ALBANY, N. Y. — William A. Ryan, a husky construction company salesman, left for Norwich to punch City Attorney James W. Coleman in the nose at the Elks' club. Coleman bet Ryan, 50 years old, a punch in the nose that he was "too old to get in the navy." Ryan's enlistment was approved here—just one day under the six months' leeway deadline allowed men of the maximum acceptable age.

have been loaded on the Grinsholm in anticipation of her second sailing, for which final clearance with the Japanese is still awaited.

Even since the entry of the United States into the war, negotiations have been carried on vigorously through Red Cross and diplomatic channels to establish a regular shipment of food parcels and other comforts for American prisoners in the Far East. Delay in completing arrangements for prisoners of war is not unusual. It took almost a year before the British could make satisfactory arrangements for sending regular supplies of food parcels from England for British prisoners held in Germany, in spite of the short distance to the Continent and other obviously more favorable factors.

In addition to the distribution of material aid, all information about prisoners of war is cleared through the International Red Cross Committee's Central Agency for Prisoners of War at Geneva, to which the belligerent nations acting under the terms of the Geneva Convention of 1929, send lists of those captured, and the location of their prison camps, for transmission to the country interested.

Up to December 9, 1942, Germany had reported 228 United States prisoners of war and 1,491 interned United States civilians, of whom 788 were men and 703 were women. Italy had reported 15 United States prisoners of war and 21 United States internees of whom 13 were men and 8 women. Japan had reported 1,442 United States prisoners of war, 310 Army, 728 Marine Corps, and 404 Navy, and 1,883 United States internees, 1,596 men and 287 women. Japan holds many times this number of Americans.

Particular Mosquito

It was midnight at Camp Barker, Texas. Private George Proctor, Co. B, 54th Medical Training Battalion, was asleep in his tent just off the 51st Bn. area. The rest of his tentmates had headed for "rec" halls hours before—mosquitoes were terrible. "There I was, peaceful-like," Proctor recalls, "when I was awakened by something heavy on my chest. What do you think was happening? Why, a great big mosquito was sitting on my chest, looking at my dogtags to see what my blood type was!"
